#	RESPONSES	DATE
1	x	3/13/2019 11:32 AM
2	standardise format	3/12/2019 1:24 PM
3	n/a	3/12/2019 10:06 AM
4	Provide a short abstract of the case - making it clear which area of the law is being tested - with a link to a more in depth report (website only?) that includes an analysis of how the decision changes the current practice / interpretation of the law, as well as the facts of the case.	3/11/2019 1:27 PM
5	/	3/11/2019 12:15 PM
6	Keep it up	3/9/2019 3:14 PM
7	By providing a succinct summary of the gist of the case and its significance as a heading for the report.	3/9/2019 11:51 AM
8	Not have them written by junior members of the profession, and try to draw out more than the simple facts of the case. If all they are going to say is mark X was found similar to mark Y you might as well publish a quarterly table of the competing marks and outcomes.	3/9/2019 10:37 AM
9	A periodical compendium of cases can be published as a web / CD Edition with printed options, of course with searchable index.	3/8/2019 6:17 PM
10	they're good!	3/8/2019 4:58 PM
11	stock photos are not helpful but make images are - resist the temptation to always have an image - if the image doesn't add to the value it's better left out	3/8/2019 4:16 PM
12	Separate out important cases from unimportant cases.	3/8/2019 4:02 PM
13	Important	3/8/2019 3:56 PM
14	Possibly, by making them easier to search online, by name and subject, though acceptable at present	2/8/2019 8:14 AM
15	Faster reporting as some are quite old by the time they make the CITMA Review	2/7/2019 2:09 PM
16	Reduce the backlog	2/7/2019 1:21 PM
